

Book Week 2019

It's been a very exciting week during Book Week as we have had lots of fun things happening. Each class paired up with another class to read to each other and this was very successful as all of the children enjoyed reading to someone else.

Also during Book Week the Nursery classes visited Benwell Library and many of them enrolled in the library so they can visit with their parents and carers. The children really enjoyed their visit.

On Thursday we had a very special visitor. The famous author and illustrator Simon Bartram visited Bridgewater to show us his work and talk about what life is like as an author and illustrator. He brought with him some amazing illustrations and sketch books to show how illustrations start from beginning to end. He told stories and even drew a picture of an alien during a special assembly. We are hoping the picture will be displayed in the library soon.

Our theme was 'We love books' and each class did many different activities related to this theme. E.g. Year 2 designed their own bookmarks to put into their favourite books and Year 6 made their own posters to show why they love certain stories.

On World Book Day we dressed up as an adventurous word as we have been promoting the use of adventurous vocabulary with the children. We had some amazing words around the school such as vintage, astonishing, pollution, colourful etc. Here are just a couple of our photos.
