

Art: Insects

Insects bodies are made up of three main parts.

Can you identify the head, thorax and abdomen in these images?

Louise Bourgeois (1911-2010)

- Bourgeois was a French-American artist who is best known for her large-scale sculptures.
- Her nickname was 'Spiderwoman' because of the spider sculptures she made.
- Her largest spider was called Maman and was over 9m tall.
- She made images that showed her memories from being a little girl.

Welcoming Hands, 1996

Maman, 1999

Jennifer Angus (born 1961)

- Angus is a Canadian artist who uses dead insects to create patterns.
- She tries to use Victorian patterns to inspire her designs.
- Angus hopes that her artwork will make people interested in insects, so that more people will fight against the destruction of their habitats.
- Although she does use real insects, she tries to reuse them from her exhibitions for future displays.

Victorian Fancy (Detail)

Insecta Fantasia