VOLUNTEERING

Make a difference and develop your skills

Volunteering can be rewarding in lots of ways and a brilliant way to develop skills, get experience and meet new people.

RHWE has lots of organisations we work with offering volunteering opportunities, so whether you are interested in the outdoors, working with animals, supporting youth projects, working with older people, whatever you'd like to do, we can help you find the right placement and get valuable experience.

Lisa took part in our Asdan volunteers programme. She got herself some new wellies and has never looked back since volunteering at the Ouseburn Farm.

"Volunteering helps me give back to a community that since moving back to Newcastle has helped me loads, through various different organisations - I am so grateful. I have also learned we aren't all in the same boat, but the same river. You never know what people are struggling with, throughout my journey I have met the most wonderful strong women whom I admire. Through volunteering I have learned some really good life lessons that I hope to pass on and inspire others, most of all I have fallen back in love with life and feel I have a second chance, and thank you all for being part of it."
